Administrative History:

Mrs. Grover (Flora) Egerter prepared a resolution to the Allanburg Women’s Institute February 6, 1957 meeting. The resolution requested “The Provincial Government to favourably consider the placing of a University” in the Niagara Peninsula. Mrs. Egerter was moved to make such a resolution after hearing a radio announcement of Canada Council grants to various organizations, including provisions for four new universities. The resolution gained momentum and was supported at the Welland District Women’s Institute District Annual Meeting in May 1957 and then at the Hamilton Area Women’s Institute Convention in October 1957. It was later submitted to the Provincial Board of the Ontario Women’s Institute and upon approval was presented to the Minister of Education for Ontario by Ellis P. Morningstar, MPP for Welland.

The Niagara Peninsula Joint Committee on Higher Education held its first meeting on August 13, 1958 on the initiative of the Welland County Council who proposed a joint meeting between the Education Committee and representatives of the County of Lincoln and the City of St. Catharines. At the conclusion of its mandate, the committee endorsed the creation of a Citizens’ Committee in 1962.

The Niagara Peninsula University Organizing Committee, a successor to the citizens committee held its first meeting on July 11, 1962 in Niagara Falls. Executive members included: Dr. Arthur A. Schmon, Chairman, W.B. Gunning, J.M. Trott and D.G. Willmot, Vice-Chairmen, and M.A. Chown, R.L. Hearn, E.S. Howard, W.S. Martin Q.C., E.E. Mitchelson, A.C. Rae, and M.L. Swart. Shortly after, members of the committee met with the Advisory Committee on University Affairs with an encouraging outcome. The committee agreed on the name for the new institution, Brock University, and the committee became the Brock University Founders’ Committee.
Brock University Founders’ Committee’s first order of business was to raise funds for the organization and development of the university. In May 1963, Dr. Schmon announced that the DeCew Falls site would be the new location for Brock University. After securing support from the Minister of Education, William Davis, the committee was able to begin renovation of a former factory site at 390 Glenridge Avenue. On September 12, 1963, it was announced that James Alexander Gibson would become the first president of Brock University. Successive presidents include Alan Earp, Terry White, David Atkinson, Jack Lightstone and current president, Gervan Fearon.

Brock University was incorporated by Letters Patent on October 31, 1962. The University held its first classes on September 16, 1964 in the basement of St. Paul Street United Church, as the converted factory facilities were not ready. There were seven faculty members, including the President, and 124 full-time and 18 part-time students.

Scope and Content:

The collection consists of photographs, negatives, slides, transparencies and born digital images created for and by Brock University. Original folder/envelope titles were used when possible, with fuller descriptions of events and individuals added. When no dates were noted on envelopes containing compact discs and could not be found searching University publications the date the compact disc was created is given.

Many of the black and white photographs that had been separated from this collection and deposited in the Archives many years earlier were reunited with their original negatives. When printed photographs were not located within the existing negative collection, the photographs are grouped by subject content.

Many photographs from 1963-1967 pre-date the existence of an official University photographer on staff. Wherever possible the photographer or publication is credited when photographs were not created by Brock University and its staff. Wayne Windjack (1968-1976) was the first University photographer and upon his retirement in 1976 Divino Mucciante was hired for this role until his retirement in 2008. The University now contracts photographic work to various local professionals or University staff.

A thumbnail image file has been created for all digital images saved to compact disc. These can be found as an appendices to the end of this finding aid.
