Also included are two survey plans of the railway showing property owners. The account book was featured as "Exhibit A" in The Corporation of The County of Welland v. The Buffalo and Lake Huron Railway Company et al., October 28, 1869. The Buffalo and Brantford Railway Company was formed in 1850. The railway was renamed the Buffalo, Brantford &amp; Goderich Railway in 1852 to reflect the plans to extend the line to Goderich. Financial problems led to a British group taking over the railway a few years later and the name was changed to the Buffalo &amp; Lake Huron Railway.
