NAVIGATION SCHOOL,
At the QUADRANT, 202 Water-street, New-York.
S. LAMBERT informs the inhabitants of this city, that he has opened a School for teaching the following branches in Mathematics, viz: NAVIGATION, LUNAR OBSERVATIONS, To find the latitude by double altitude of the sun, by one altitude of the sun taken within near noon, to find the latitude by the meridian altitude of the moon star or planet, by the pole star taken at any hour of the night, the construction and use of Mercator Chasse, &c.

BOOK-KEEPING
By Double and Single Entry.
Also, the calculating and projection of Eclipses of the Sun and Moon, and occultation of fixed Stars by the Moon, and the method of determining the longitude by observing time.
He having performed sixteen voyages to the Cape of Good Hope and to different parts in India, where all the different names of latitude and longitude and variation occur, the practical part of every branch relative to navigation has become familiar to him (as well as the other above-mentioned branches) and having instructed a school in Salem, Mass, for 5 years with success, he flatters himself that he shall give satisfaction to all those who call on him for instruction. Applications as above.

DURABLE MARKING INK. FOR writing on linen apparel, cotton, furniture, table linen, &c. with a common pen. The expiring practice of printing with types, is found to be unsafe, as different names have often the same initials, and it is a fact that where the name is put at full length, the person who uses types cannot ascertain his own production. The marks of the needle require much time, and are easily taken out. The excellence of the durable marking ink consists not only in flowing easily from the pen, and retaining its colour after successive washings, but the proprietor pledges himself that it can never be erased, nor will it injure the most delicate textures. It may likewise be found of great utility in dating and signing wills, deeds, and other papers of importance, where the least alteration of a letter or figure might be attended with fraudulent consequences. This Ink is particularly recommended to families, gentlemen of the army and navy, and to travellers. Made by T. CLAU, London, and sold by C. & R. WAITE, Nos 64 and 38 Maiden-Lane, New York.

Christian Edition of the CHRISTIAN OBSERVER.

THE publishers of this Work solicit the attention of the friends of learning and piety to this undertaking. The Christian Observer is conducted by men of the first character and standing in Europe; and may be said, without fear of contradiction, that in its diversified pages are combined more of talent and orthodoxy, learning and piety, zeal and catholicism, than in any other work of the kind hitherto published in the Christendom.

The publishers confidently believe that this work needs only to be known, to recommend it to the taste, the good sense, and the moral sensibilities of the great mass of their fellow-citizens.

Even the enthusiastic admirers of Novels, Tales and Romances, (with which the American press is literally groaning) would find in the pages of the Christian Observer, matter as interesting—and, perhaps, as novel—and, perhaps, as useful—and, certainly, quite as cheap.

The subjoined testimonials prove the value in which this work is held by one of the most distinguished Clergymen in this country—the list might be easily swelled to a volume, but the following are sufficient:

The first is from president DWIGHT, of Yale College.
YALE COLLEGE, April 24, 1812.

The publishers of the American edition of the Christian Observer, having requested of me a recommendation of that work to the public, I take a peculiar pleasure in complying with their wishes. I have taken this work from its commencement—and throughout the whole of its continuance have considered it as the best periodical publication within my knowledge. It has also been more uniformly supported than any other production of a similar nature.

The religious doctrines contained by the edition and its principal supporters, are generally those of the Reformation. In a few particulars they differ, somewhat, from the most generally received orthodoxy of this country. On these, however, they rarely insist. Those in which the creeds and confessions of Protestant Churches have chiefly united, they illustrate and defend with distinguished ability.

The spirit which reigns in this work is, I think, singularly happy. Catholicism and zeal are, perhaps, no where more successfully united. The piety of the gospel is here strongly, as well as amiably displayed; and even controversy is carried on without tarnishing the christian character. The subordinate contributors, in the same course of moderation and excellence.

The Plan of the work includes Religious and Miscellaneous Communications, Reviews, Literary and Philosophical Intelligence, a list of New Publications, Religious Intelligence, a View of Public Affairs, &c. &c. The heads are well chosen, and are filled up with advantage.

These publications of this work is a public benefit, and reflects honor on the undertakers. Every good man must, I think, wish them success. They publish the whole. This is certainly the only course which they could take with propriety. A mutilated work must appear with serious disadvantage, even when thus miscellaneous; and occasions will often occur when the purchaser will find reason to regret that he has not the parts which have been omitted.

With these views of the subject, I cordially recommend this design, and the Gentlemen who have undertaken it, to the patronage of the public; and persuade myself, that the more the Christian Observer is known, the more it will be valued.

(Signed) TIMOTHY DWIGHT.
In the foregoing recommendation of the Christian Observer by the rev. President Dwight, I cordially concur.
April 28th, 1813.

The foregoing recommendation of the Christian Observer, meets my entire approbation.
April 28th, 1813. J. B. ROMEYN.

Though conscious that the weight of my opinion with respect to the merit of "The Christian Observer," can neither increase its celebrity nor promote its circulation, yet, being solicited by the editors for that opinion, I hesitate not to declare, that I consider it a work of very superior excellence, highly calculated to advance the general interests of christianity, as well as the peculiar doctrines and discipline of the Protestant Episcopal Church. In this, as in similar publications, intended for extensive circulation, there may indeed be some sentiments occasionally advanced which every Episcopalian would not adopt; but such is the copiousness of the instruction conveyed—such the extent of theological research, and such the ardor of piety, the purity and sublimity of doctrine, which prevails throughout the volumes of "THE CHRISTIAN OBSERVER," which have fallen under my inspection, that I think the work cannot be perused without eminent advantage to every reader, and must constitute a very valuable addition to the library of every christian.

JAMES ABERCROMBIE, D. D. Senior assistant minister of Christ Church, St. Peter's, and St. James's, Philadelphia.

Having carefully perused a large part of the miscellany, published in Great Britain, under the title of "The Christian Observer," from the time of its first appearance to the end of the last year, I cheerfully add my suffrage to that of others, in favor of its general excellence. There are certainly some minor points, in regard to which I differ from the authors of this publication. But the work, taken in gross, exhibits such an union of talent, candor, catholicism, orthodoxy, and piety, as I have not elsewhere seen in a miscellany. It is interesting, instructive, and impressive in so high a degree, that it would seem difficult for any one to read it actively, without becoming wiser and better. If it shall obtain popularity in this country, it cannot fail to promote the interests of religion, morals, and learning; and to render it popular, I am persuaded that the whole work should be published in strict conformity with the London copy.

(Signed) ASHBEEL GREEN, D. D. Philadelphia, May 12, 1812.

In the above recommendation of the "Christian Observer," I cordially concur.
(Signed) J. J. JANEWAY.

The above recommendation expresses my judgment of the value of the Christian Observer, I wish its re-publication in America great success.
(Signed) W. M. STAUGHTON. Philadelphia, 1812.

In cheerful compliance with the request of the publishers of the American edition of the Christian Observer, I add my testimony of its peculiar merits. I have received the work from the beginning, and have read it with uncommon satisfaction. It has been uniformly excellent. Its circulation in this country cannot fail to do good.

I am highly gratified that the work is to be re-published from its commencement, and that the whole is to be copied, without alteration, from the original.
JEDIDIAH MORSE. Charleston, July 25, 1812.

At a period like the present, when zeal "for the faith" is delivered to the saints, is so apt to be blended with the unhalloved fire of party animosity, no publication can be more seasonable and important than "the Christian Observer," which, in a degree highly creditable to the editors, and most auspicious to the cause of truth, unites firmness with moderation, and orthodoxy with charity.

My approbation of the work has strengthened, the more I have perused it: and I am much gratified to find, that the re-publication of it in this country is contemplated, without alteration or omission, from the London copy.

JOSHUA HUNTINGTON.
Boston, July 20, 1812.
In the foregoing recommendation of the Christian Observer I cordially concur.
E. D. GRIFFIN. Boston, August 4, 1812. may 12.

MORTGAGE.
WHEREAS William F. Pell, of the city of New-York, merchant, and Mary his wife, by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date the tenth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seven, for the purpose of securing to Ann Norman and David Marsh, of the same place, executors of the last will and testament of John Norman, late of said city, butcher, deceased, the payment of the sum of one thousand two hundred and ninety-six dollars and ten cents, with the interest due and to grow due thereon, on or before the tenth day of February which would be in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirteen, according to the condition of a certain bond or obligation executed by the said William F. Pell, mentioned in the said indenture and bearing even date therewith, did grant, bargain, sell, alien, remise, release, convey, and confirm unto the said Ann Norman and David Marsh, and to their heirs and assigns forever, all those seven lots of land situate in the eighth ward of the city of New-York, and known and distinguished on a map or plan lately made thereof, together with other lands, by Samuel Stillwell, city-surveyor, by lot number twelve; bounded northerly in front by Abington road; westerly by lot number eleven; southerly in the rear by lot number seven, and easterly by lot number thirteen—containing in width in front and rear one hundred and ten feet, and in length on the westerly side one hundred and sixty-four feet six inches, and on the easterly side one hundred and seventy-one feet. The said lots are also distinguished on a certain map made by Joseph F. Mangin, city-surveyor, dated the twentieth day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and four. Together with all and singular the rights, members, privileges, hereditaments, and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining; and also, all the estate, right, title, interest, dower, possession, claim, and demand of the said William F. Pell and Mary his wife, of, in, or to, the same, and the reversion and reversions, remainder and remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof; to have and to hold the said premises, with the appurtenances, unto the said Ann Norman and David Marsh, and to their heirs and assigns forever. And whereas the said William F. Pell and Mary his wife did, in and by the said indenture of mortgage, authorize and fully empower the said Ann Norman and David Marsh, in case of default in the payment of the said sum of money, together with the interest thereon, according to the tenor of the condition of the said bond, to enter into and upon all and singular the said premises, and the same to sell and convey in manner and form directed and required in and by the act in such case made and provided. And whereas default has been made in the payment of the said sum of money mentioned in the condition of the said bond, and the interest thereof, whereby the said mortgaged premises have become forfeited. And whereas, since the execution of the said indenture of mortgage, a marriage has been had and solemnised between the said Ann Norman and the undersigned Andrew Jackson—Notice is, therefore, hereby given, that in pursuance of the power for that purpose, contained in the said indenture of mortgage, and of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgaged premises will be sold by the subscribers at public auction, at the Tontine Coffee-house in the city of New-York, on the eighteenth day of September next, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day. Dated the 11th day of March, 1813.

LOSS OF THE GROWLER AND EAGLE.
In consequence of the British gun-boats having been over the lines and fired upon some of our small water-craft, two of our armed sloops, the Growler and Eagle, started from this place on the morning of the 2d instant, under the command of Lieutenant Smith, for the purpose of attacking them, should they again make their appearance. They arrived within a mile of the lines about dark the same day and cast anchor. Yesterday morning about day-break they discovered three British gun-boats and gave them chase; but the wind being south, they unfortunately ran so far into the narrow channel that they found it difficult to return, and the Eagle, not being sufficiently strong for her weight of metal, became unmanageable and at last went down; the Growler, unwilling to abandon her, continued fighting by her side, until after she went down and was compelled to yield to superior force. The action lasted from five till half past nine o'clock in the morning, with little or no intermission. The enemy had by some means gotten information of the sailing of our sloops and brought their forces up from the Isle aux Noix, and placed them on both sides of the channel, which was so narrow that musket shot could reach our sloops from the shore. We have not yet learned the number of killed and wounded on either side, but from the length of the action, the narrowness of the channel and the signs of carnage which were discovered after the action, we presume it must have been very considerable, but we fear our loss has been the greatest, from the disadvantages under which our men fought. We had 113 men on board, including Capt. Herriek and 33 volunteers from his company stationed at Champlain. We understand the enemy had five gun-boats in the action—they carried 24 pounders, the largest of our guns were eighteen.

Since the above was in type an express has arrived from Champlain, which states, on the authority of information derived from the enemy, that only one of our men was killed, but a considerable number wounded—the enemy had two killed—the Eagle sunk in shallow water and the crew were saved.

We have Montreal papers of the 22d and Quebec of the 18th ult. They mention the arrival at Quebec of H. M. ship of war Cygnel, with a number of transports containing the 19th light dragoons, the 2d battalion of the 41st regiment of foot, and a number of recruits belonging to different regiments.

Quebec, May 13, 1813.

On Friday set off from this garrison, for Upper Canada, 50 of the artillery; on Sunday, six companies of the 103d regiment; and yesterday the greater part of the 2d battalion of the 41st regiment, with recruits for the different regiments above.

Kingston, May 4.

On Sunday evening last his honor Sir Roger Hale Sheaffe and suite, arrived in town from York, which place they left on Tuesday the 27th ult.—on which day the enemy succeeded in getting possession of that place, after a few hours obstinate resistance.

On Wednesday last was launched from his majesty's dock-yard, at Point Frederick, the ship Sir George Prevost, of 30 guns. A royal salute was fired from the different vessels then in the harbor.

Bennington, (Ver.) June 9.

Sunday in the afternoon, at five o'clock, Col. Elias Passet, of the 30th regiment United States Infantry, at the rendezvous in this town, received a call from Col. Clark, commanding at the cantonment in Burlington, to forward to that post, with all convenient speed, five full companies from his regiment, under the command of one of his majors; and it is with the sincerest satisfaction we are authorized to state, that the regiment were in such a state as to admit of the most prompt attention to the orders. The detachment was immediately made, all necessary arrangements expedited with alacrity, and yesterday they marched from their encampment in the highest spirits, and in good health, to seek the enemy wherever duty may direct. The detachment are under the immediate command of Major Mathew Phelps, who with the character of a scholar and the gentleman, blends the accomplishments of the disciplinarian and the soldier.

While we part with them with cheerfulness to support the cause of liberty, of virtue and humanity, we are constrained to pay them a just tribute of respect. The decency of their behavior, during the short period they have resided among us, their dignified behavior when attending public worship on the Sabbath; their general attention to apparent morality and sobriety; and their remarkable proficiency in the military art, are the surest pledges of their future service, and the most honorable testimonials of their value as men and as soldiers.

The good wishes of republicans will follow them, and the prayers of the virtuous will ascend to Heaven, that honor may preside among their ranks, and victory alight upon their banners.

New-Orleans, April 28.

The sailing-master of the U. S. brig Syren, arrived in town yesterday morning, having left the S. at Ship-Island. He informs us, that the British sloop of war Herald was in sight when the Syren got under weigh, but when she had passed the bar, Mr. Bull was not to be seen. The Syren cruised off the mouth of the river for 36 hours, after which she stood to the southward in quest of the enemy, and arrived at Ship-Island without meeting him. This conduct of the enemy, who is superior in men and guns is a rare compliment to the prowess and skill of our seamen.

Baltimore, June 3.

It may not be uninteresting to the American public to know, that the surveyors appointed by government to appraise the Macdonough frigate, estimated her as fully equal in every respect to the frigate United States by whom she was captured; and that the captives were allowed by government her full value, that being the compensation for the capture of ships of equal force.

Extract of a letter from on board the U. States' schooner under command of commodore Gordon in the bay, dated June 4, 1813.

"Lying close under the Virginia shore yesterday, eight negroes came off to us supposing we were British. They informed us who were rich; who might be plundered; and offered to Pilot us to their masters' houses to burn and plunder. The boat is now on shore delivering them up to their owners."

The schooner Fly, Merrillow, of Wilmington, (Del.) with a cargo of coffee, sailed from Jaquemel, (St. Domingo) the 11th of April, and was captured on the morning of the 14th, by the boats of the British ship Argo, capt. Quinlan. The captain of the Fly was a passenger in the cartel William Penn, lately arrived in the district of Little Egg Harbor. He was informed by the lieutenants of the Argo, that they had been to pay a visit to emperor Christophe and president Peltion previous to capturing him, and that both the emperor and president had promised to give the English information of all American vessels in their ports.

Salem, June 6.

Arrived, the beautiful private armed brig Grand Elk, Reed, from a cruise, last from Portland. Of

Cape Ann, the Grand Turk was boarded by a boat from Cape Ann; supposing her to be an English cruiser, capt. B. favored the deception, and the man voluntarily gave information of prizes and merchant vessels expected, advised with respect to cruising ground, and offered to come off next day with fresh provisions; and said that he had furnished a pilot for the Sir John Sherbrooke! We are glad to hear that the name of this traitor was ascertained, and that steps have been taken to bring him to justice.

Portland, June 2.

Arrived below, the letter of marque schooner Sir, captain Gray, of Baltimore, 33 days from Bordeaux, with a cargo of brandy, wine, Holland duck, silks, &c. to Geo. Stiles, of Baltimore. Sailed in company with the brig Ida, Mentor, of Boston and separated from her on the 2d night. May 5, at 6 A. M. carried away the main-yard—at 9 discovered 2 sail to windward, which, on approaching, proved to be frigates, which gave chase to us—wore ship and hauled close to the wind, to the eastward, bringing one of the frigates 3 points on the weather quarters and the other in the wake—both hulls above water. Finding the one to the windward to sail extremely fast, gave overboard 8 guns, some shot, and cut away the waist-cloths. At eleven o'clock the frigate in our wake, out of sight. At 12, the other was in our wake, and at 2 she was 3 points on the lee-quarter, when she fired several shot, all of which fell short. Lost sight of her at night. On the 20th at 5 A. M. saw a sail on the lee-bow—gave chase, and found her to be a ship under English colors—the wind being light did not get within gun-shot until 1 P. M. when an engagement commenced, which terminated in 30 minutes by the enemy striking his colors, without doing essential damage to either vessels. The proved to be the British ship Loyal Sam, mounting 10 guns and 30 men, besides passengers, from Nassau, N. P. for Glasgow, with a cargo of coffee, dye-woods, cotton, and some specie. Took out of her 16 boxes containing gold and silver, 4 sermons of indigo, and 2 long nine pounders—mailed the ship and ordered her for a port in North or South-Carolina. On the 1st inst. chased a large ship into Roseway, N. S.—Yesterday, off Cape Sables, put the officers of the Loyal Sam, 2 passengers, and 9 of the crew on board a fishing vessel, and ordered her to Nova-Scotia. Passengers in the Sir—James Sloan, esq. of Baltimore, and 3 French gentlemen. Mr. Sloan is the bearer of dispatches for government, from our charge de affairs at Paris.

LATEST FROM HALIFAX.

A gentleman arrived in Boston on Tuesday, who left Halifax the 1st inst. He brought neither letters nor newspapers; but has communicated the following verbal information:

A fleet of transports from England, with troops, had gone up to Quebec, without touching at Halifax. It was supposed that 10,000 troops had gone to Quebec within the last fifteen days previous to his leaving Halifax. A fleet of transports was entering the harbor when he came away. The Nymp and another frigate had sailed to convey a number of transports to Quebec. A convoy, from the W. Indies, with from 1700 to 2000 troops had arrived.

A cartel barque for Boston, with prisoners, was to sail the first wind. A 74 and 2 frigates were in port. The Plantagenet 74, disguised as a frigate, had sailed to cruise off New-York. A 74 and a frigate were going in the day he left, with a prize brig and ship, both pierced for about 12 guns, and supposed to be from or bound to France. A brig of war sailed same day. Ship Sally, Baker, of Wiscasset, sent in by La Hogue, had been cleared. A ship with yellow sides, from N. York, with four had arrived, sent in for breach of blockade. The British ship Duck, captured by the American privateer Governor Plumer, had been retaken and arrived.

It is ascertained that the District of Maine alone has contributed to the regular and volunteer service, between four and five thousand men.

Post. Pal.

We are certain that in the city of Philadelphia more than 1500 men have been enlisted for the regular army; New-York has contributed largely, and a very considerable number have been enlisted in the states of Vermont and Massachusetts, to say nothing of Connecticut, Rhode-Island or Delaware.

To Sacket's Harbor and the Straits of Niagara, have all those troops been marched, and to them have been added several hundreds from Maryland and Virginia. Previous to the late attack upon Fort George, all our troops on the frontier were concentrated. Sacket's Harbor, with all its immense stores, was left without 500 regular soldiers, yet we learn that the whole force, when landed under general Lewis, was only "about 4000 men."

Our account from Canada, published to-day, mention the arrival there of British reinforcements from 4 to 6000 men, "a part of them passed Prescott yesterday, (May 27) the residue are said to be coming on in detachments." As Prescott is only at most three days march from Kingston, it is certain that the troops which passed through Prescott on the 27th, must have arrived at Kingston before the return of gen. Prevost from Sacket's Harbor. We look with more and more solicitude to the state of that important post; that post upon the maintenance and state of which must depend our command of Lake Ontario. Every nerve ought to be strained, every energy of the country brought into action, promptly and at once. Every thing depends upon promptitude. If Kingston was in our possession or in ruins, all would be well and Upper Canada ours.

Elizabethtown, N. J. June 2.

A Singular Circumstance. Mr. Stephen Denman, of Springfield, had a cat that had kittens; all but one they drowned—and the next day, while the men were at work in the field, they killed a mink, which had two young ones, which they took and brought home, and as soon as the bereaved cat discovered them, she took them up and carried them to her bed, suckled and reared them; and now they are so domesticated, that they are as tame as cats, and as sportive.

PHOENIX COFFEE-HOUSE,

WALL-STREET.

DAVID BARNUM, late of Philadelphia, respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he has taken for a term of years, and has completely and generally refitted throughout that commodious establishment, well known as the Phoenix Coffee-House, nearly opposite the Tontine, in the city of New-York; a central stand for business, being in the immediate neighborhood of the banks, the insurance offices, and post-office; and a most eligible place of resort to travellers, merchants, and masters of vessels.

The building is spacious, the chambers large and airy, and are furnished with excellent beds. The liquors are of the greatest variety and the first quality; the viands of the best that the well stocked markets of New-York can supply; the attendance such as is calculated to give general satisfaction; and the terms moderate.

The Price-Currents and the principal Newspapers in the United States, are regularly filed for the accommodation of the visitors.

An ordinary every day at 2 o'clock.

D. BARNUM cherishes the hope that long experience in the line of his business, will recommend him to the encouragement of his fellow-citizens. To those who know him, all Professions would be superfluous; and the Stranger is respectfully invited to expect something more substantial, with the certainty of not being disappointed.
