Dear Mr. Page,
You're kind
letter received some days ago, and had it not been that the hay, the wheat and the berries were running a race to see which could get attention first, I would have answered it at once.

It will be a pleasure to me to read and criticize your productions. Only I hope you will take my remarks with several grains of salt, because my limitations as a critic may be much more apparent than yours as a creative artist.

However I have had a good deal of practice in critical work and shall be only too glad if I can be of the least assistance to you.

Herbert was fortunate enough to secure the services of a strong-armed Romanian in the hay field for the rest of the season so I shall have leisure for the labor I delight in. So I hope to see your book soon.

Do you ever see the magazine called The Editor, published at Ridgewood, New Jersey?

If I can find anything in old numbers bearing on verse writing I will send them on to you.

It is a keen pleasure to have a place in the thoughts of Mrs. Page. The quality of her mind is very much like that of her deeply - mourned brother Dr. Sidney.

My brother joins me in kind regards.

Sincerely yours
Ethelwyn Wetherald
