Hey there.

Now, I tell you about my busy day yesterday. I had to go to the store to get some groceries. I arrived there just as the breakfast rush started. I had a delicious meal of bacon and eggs. Then, I had to go to the bank to withdraw some money. I met my first customer of the day. I sold them a new book. I was very busy all day.

I hope you had a good day. I hear it's a hot day there. I love the heat. It's perfect for barbecues.

If you need anything, just let me know.

Yours truly,

Mrs. McAllister wanted me to have dinner with them, but I had an engagement for the evening so couldn't accept the invitation.

My theatre date for last night was with Doris, Aunt Tana, Ike, and I went to the movies up on Mt. Prospect Avenue. Saw a dandy picture, terribly sad, but the few tears that escaped did me good. I didn't feel a bit sleepy when I reached home, so I sat in the living room and read until almost two o'clock this morning. Then I jumped into bed and slept soundly until ten thirty.

By the way, Artie, what do you think of a double ring marriage? so many grooms that I know are wearing wedding rings. I've been wondering lately if you would care to share one. Maudie wants an算是 Douglass has twin rings, and it appealed to me a whole lot.
